HERALDIC RESULTS

The following actions took place at the November 2012 Laurel Sovereign of Arms' Pelican and Wreath meetings, and appears in the November 2012 LoAR, printed Monday, December 31, 2012:

THE FOLLOWING ITEMS HAVE BEEN REGISTERED:

GLEANN ABHANN

Álfráðr Marteinnsson. Name.

Bride O Sullivan. Name.

Submitted as Bridok O Sullivan, the submitter indicated that she preferred a name that sounded like \Bride-ee\. She was contacted and approved the change to Bride, which is found as a late period English given name in the IGI Parish Record extracts. We have made that change in order to meet her request.

The submitter requested authenticity for 14th to 16th century Ireland. As modified, the name no longer meets that request. However, the submitter made it clear she preferred this form of the name.

Guðrún Einarsdóttir. Device. Per bend sinister azure and Or, a compass rose Or and a falcon striking gules.

Karn syn Lysyi. Name.

Paul Wickenden of Thanet's Dictionary of Period Russian Names lists only the first citation of a name, so as documented there is a gap between the elements of over 500 years. However, variant spellings of the given name make it clear that the name continued in use. Therefore we can give the submitter the benefit of the doubt and allow this combination.

We note that our Russian sources, once superb, no longer completely meet our needs for documentation. This means that we need more research to establish that names documented only as early names continued in use through our period.

Skallagrímr Bárðarson. Device change. Per chevron sable and azure, a chevron rayonny argent.

His previous device, Gyronny Or and sable, eight Tyr runes bases to center and a bordure counterchanged, is retained as a badge.

TOWN FAIRE

The second Fifth Sunday Demo/Tourney was held Sunday, December 30, 2012 at Betty Virginia Park. Fighters were Aki, Harp, Drust, Wolf, Sir Robert, Skallagrímr, and Álfráðr. Spectators were Trina and Mom, Carole and Maddy, Nathaniel (Sir Robert's boy), Jordan, Kurt, Aedan (formerly Lothar), and Amata. There were also lots of walk ups. Congrats to Michael at Harp on becoming the Fifth Sunday Champion! Harp and Drust shared the Best Death Award.

Thursday, January 3, 2013 fighter practice was cancelled due to work conflicts.

On Sunday, January 6, 2013, fighter practice was held at the Duck Pond starting at two in the afternoon. Álfráðr, Drust, Wolf, Symon, Tralin and Akimoro fought. Carole, Maddy, Amata, Eida, Lady Sparrow and her husband were spectators.

Project night on Monday, January 7, 2013 starting at six o'clock at Skallagrímr and Evlaliia's house was well attended. Trina, Jurgis, Joya, Kert, Amata, Skallagrímr and Evlaliia were there, with Mateo and Bride stopping by.

Fighter practices were held on Thursday evenings starting at 6:00 p.m. at the Mangum Memorial United Methodist Church on January 10th, 17th, 24th, and 31st.

Fighter practice was held Sunday, January 13 at A.C. Steer around 2:00 p.m. Project night was held Monday, January 14 around 6:00 p.m. at Skallagrímr and Evlaliia's house.

After an exciting local event, fighter practice was held at A.C. Steer under the shady trees in the mid-afternoon on Sunday, January 20. Attendees were Álfráðr and Symon.

Monday, January 21, starting at six o'clock was Project Night at Skallagrímr and Evlaliia's house. The Children's Parade was the big topic with a little work done on individual items (sewing) and personal armory (devices and badges) discussed. BBQ pork sandwiches, potato salad, and baked beans with a King Cake were eaten. Those present included Evlaliia, Anya (Trina), Rory, Gilbert and Marcilla, Kendra, Joya and Jurgis, and Álfráðr.

War horn award regalia were the project for the Shire A&S Night on Wednesday, January 23, at Aulds Library. A lot of work was begun, but there is a lot yet to do.

Saturday, January 26, 2013 was part one of a vellum making workshop at Tyddn, Symon and Avice's farm. The day began at ten o'clock with the first of a three part process that takes approximately four to six weeks total to change a hide into vellum. Today's part was the first fleshing class in which hides were scraped. Handouts were provided for this hands-on class taught by Avice.

Sunday, January 27, 2013 Fighter Practice saw Michael at Harp, Symon, Álfráðr, and Drust in armor. Trina, Carol, Janna, Lucas, Amata, and many spectators at the park cheered them on. I believe this was at A.C. Steer and not the Duck Pond.

Monday, January 28, 2013 Project Night at Skallagrímr and Evlaliia's house was attended by Kendra, Evlaliia, Amata, Kurt, Joya, Jurgis, Carol, Rory, Janna, and Lucas. Sewing and embroidery were worked on by several while discussions of Gulf Wars and a viewing of a standing loom were held.

THE ARDANROE HERBARIUM (THL Rovena of Bri Leith, Column Editor)

WOAD

Isatis tinctoria (woad) belongs to the cruciferae family and is ruled by Saturn.

Though woad is native to central Europe, the Mediterranean region, and central Asia, it has become naturalized to parts of Britain, Northern Europe, and North America.

Woad is a biennial herb that loves full sun in a well-drained loam. You can start woad from seeds from spring till late summer with germination taking about 10 days. The seedlings should be thinned so that the plants are 8 inches apart during the following spring. The first year, it produces leaves that are blue-green in color and toothed and oblong in shape. The 3 foot flower stalks appear in the second year. The yellow quarter inch wide flowers bloom in May. Established beds easily self-seed.

Woad is highly toxic so it has limited medicinal uses and ill advised for home remedies.

As modern science has developed newer medicines, the use of woad has declined. Its external use has a long history going back to at least the Greeks and Romans. It was used as an astringent. To stop bleeding, a poultice made from the leaves was applied to open wounds. To treat palsy, an ointment was used. St. Hildegard's ointment was made by first vigorously boiling the woad in water then straining it through a cloth. After add the vulture fat and deer tallow to strained water and cook it.

The only known "cosmetic" use for woad is as a skin colorant for religious rituals and warfare. The blue paste was made using fermented leaves. Its martial use may be related to its astringent qualities on bleeding wounds.

For about 2,000 years, woad was grown as a dyestuff though extracting the dye is a complicated process. As World War II ended so did its commercial cultivation. While most are familiar with woad's use to dye yarn and material blue, fewer are aware that the use of the young leaves with an alum mordant will produce pink shades.

Woad has an ornamental in the garden due to its profuse yellow flowers.

CARRIAGE CHATTER

Winter Wonders XXVII, Shire of Ardanroe, January 18-20, 2013 AS XLVII

(Written by Rory ua Riada)

Feier des Winters was the theme of the 27th annual Winter Wonders event held by the Shire of Ardanroe the third weekend of January 2013. Lord Akimoro was the event steward with THLady Avice of York as his co-event steward. THLady Kendra Dey was the head cook. Lady Joya la Normande was in charge of reservations. Sir Robert FitzHugh of Bannockburn marshaled the heavy tournaments. THLord Lorccán hua Conchobair marshaled the rapier tournament. Mistress Bethany Bacon and friends ran the lists for the three tournaments that day. THLord Jam Recarediz and THLord Iain O'Donnell were two who heralded the field. Meister Frederick Alton oversaw the running of the Regional A&S Fair with many judges and shadow judges coming from throughout the Kingdom and even from Ansteorra! Lady Bridok O'Sullivan ran the children's activities. Lady Avalina di Pizzouli ran the Ardanroe Yard Sale again, after having so much fun doing it at the Gleann Abhann Herald and Scribal Symposium this past August. THLady Marsilla la Despensere oversaw the royal liaison staff.

The site, Group Camp One at Lake Bistineau State Park in Doyline, Louisiana, opened at five o'clock Friday afternoon. Traveler's fare was laid out at six-thirty. Two spaghettis, one with meat sauce and one vegetarian, with garlic bread, gave hungry arrivals a hearty meal. The main gate to the park closed at ten o'clock, but Lord Helmut der Adler sat watch until twelve (or two o'clock in the morning). Afterwards a notice giving the Seneschal's special phone number was posted. Anyone calling that number would get an automated message telling them the gate's combination.

Saturday morning brought the breaking of the fast at seven o'clock. Pancakes, oatmeal, coffee, milk, orange juice, hot tea, and made to order omelets were served. Brusi (I think from Blackmoor Keep) was the omelet chef. Toppings for the omelets included cheese, onions, mushrooms, sausage, and peppers.

At eight o'clock set up for the Regional A&S Faire began on the left side of the hall. The silent auction for the Royal Reception at Gulf Wars had already been set up the night before running along the outer wall on the right side of the hall. The auction had many hand-made items including two chairs using the patterns from a workshop in Iron Ox. The registration (aka troll) table was to the left of the main entrance into the hall. The 'yard sale' was set up in the center of the hall on one table.

The Shire's white pavilion was placed between the D5 and D4 cabins. Their Royal Majesties Rey and Miriel resided in D4. The pavilion was used for meetings during the day. The first was that of the Companions of the Silver Lamp at eight o'clock in the morning. The second was the Companions of the Pelican at ten o'clock in the morning. The third and final meeting was the Companions of the Diamond Chalice at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Due to the weather, there having been a lot of rain and colder temperatures in the week leading up to the event, the list field for the tournaments was placed to the left of the main hall. Mistress Bethany Bacon held a class on Minding the Lists 101 at the field at nine o'clock while armor inspection for the heavy weapon tourneys was conducted. The heavy tournament as the counting one for the TOC was held first. The crest tournament, annually held at Winter Wonders, but not held last year, returned to the joy of all and followed the heavy tournament. The light weapons tournament was held in the mid-afternoon. It was followed by a Beginning Rapier class by THL Lorccán hua Conchobair.

Many other classes were held in the main hall, mostly on the right side away from the Regional A&S Faire. THLord Bran Finn hua Neill gave a class on Heraldry at ten o'clock, while THLady Katrinka Whitehair taught people how to make Fibulas from Brass Barstock and Glass Beads. Her class had a $3 fee for supplies. Lady Sparrow and B. Thorfinnsonn (as listed in the program) held a spinning class limited to ten people at eleven o'clock and again at two o'clock. Countess Beatrix de Montecassino also gave a class on Media Relations at eleven o'clock. During lunch an A&S Documentation Review was held. During the afternoon THLord Skallagrímr Bárðarson gave a Heraldry class at two o'clock and an SCA 1 on 1 class at three o'clock. THLord Mateo Lopez also gave a class at three o'clock. His was on the Art of Brewing.

Children's activities were held at ten o'clock and two o'clock at tables in the main hall.

Lunch was held at twelve o'clock as a fundraiser for the Royal Reception at Gulf Wars. House Hammerstorm served chicken noodle soup and cheesy garlic biscuits with tea and water. The biscuits were the bomb, and were a variety – some with and without some ingredient (sausage?). Three giant bowls of biscuits were consumed leaving just the soup (good soup too!).

The Regional A&S Faire took the full day. Set up concluded at nine forty-five when Meister Frederick announced a meeting for judges and participants. Entrants were given the option of being present to answer questions about their entries. Judging began at ten o'clock and tentatively was to end at two o'clock. The faire had a great turnout with a wide variety of categories and items represented for full entry and for comment only. While I tried to get pictures of all the entries, there were some I missed, especially when it came to calligraphy and illumination, as I did not take photos of each of the individual works of which there were many in that category.

While I do not know how many participants there were in the Crest and Rapier tournaments, I was able to copy the list Mistress Bethany had of the TOC heavy weapons tournament in the afternoon. Twenty gentlefolk took up arms to compete in the first tournament of the day. They were Aron, Symon, Edric, Maerwynn, Magnus, Álfráðr, Drust, Florian, Helmut, Griffin, Swete, Michael atte Harp, Master Stephan, Aishe, Sir Grimbaldus, Skallagrímr, John the Bellringer, Philip, Sir Geoffrey (aka Dulinn), and Paul the Small. The finals were between Griffin, whom had taken the no-loss tree, and Grimbaldus, whom had lost to Aishe in his second fight, but claimed the one-loss tree. Griffin won the first of three bouts in the finals, but Grimbaldus took the second and third to win the tournament.

The hall was being cleared and prepared for court as I left. However, that evening, the court of Their Royal Majesties Rey and Miriel was held followed by feast. I believe Mistress Sarah MacGregor was the court herald. During court changes to Herald Law were read, these being the registered name of the Order of the Sable Banner, replacing Black Banner in H.L., and its abbreviation CSB replacing CBB, and the addition of the previously registered badge for the now registered award name, Award of the Argent Keystone. The results of the silent auction and lunch fundraiser for the Royal Reception at Gulf Wars were reported by House Hammerstorm represented by Skallagrímr and Evlaliia.

The event stewards reported that 143 people attended the event. Sir Grimbaldus Bacon was the TOC winner. THLord Lorccán hua Conchobair, who arrived on-site too late to enter the TOC tourney, won the Crest Tourney. Victoria Amazing, Prince Jon the Tall's lady, won the Rapier Tourney. I believe that Lady Joana Alvarez (aka Capt Pepper) was the marshal for the Rapier Tourney and assisted in the Beginner Rapier class with her lord boyfriend Lorccán. Her daughter, Sophie, was a big help in the kitchen Sunday morning. The scrolls for these three local tournaments were illuminated by Avice of York, who also created the text. Barun Rory ua Riada inked in the text with his calligraphy pens during the afternoon. Lord Jam Recaredez added the names of the winners.

Their Majesties were accompanied by their two younger children. How many children were present, I do not know, but there were a sizable number in a range of ages.

Baronessa Arianna Stefana d'Ovest, Kingdom Chronicler, announced the results of the William Blackfox Awards with regard to the Kingdom of Gleann Abhann and the Shire of Ardanroe. THLady Rovena of Bri Leith had been nominated for Best Article for "The Ardanroe Herbarium" in Ardanrunes, the Shire of Ardanroe's newsletter. The Ardanrunes had been nominated for Best Overall Newsletter. Rovena had won Best Regular Feature for her column in the Master William Blackfox Awards A.S. XLVI. The certificates were created by Countess Honor of Restormel, Society Chronicler and sent to Baronessa Arianna. Certificates for both nominations and the certificate for winner were given to Barun Rory that afternoon. He would see that Rovena received the two certificates as nominee and winner.

Meister Frederick reported the results of the Regional A&S Faire. Some categories had sponsored prizes. Skallagrímr received a Hancock Fabric gift card as the prize for Novice in Costuming. He promptly hid this from his wife. Mistress Jennet sponsored Novice Illumination, which Asa Thorolfsdottir won. I do not know what the prize was. Baron James ens le Breres received a box of Winter Wonderland origami creatures as the prize, sponsored by Maistre Rory, for the Heraldic Arts category. James' stained glass rampant lion was the piece receiving this. The overall winner of the Faire was a tie. Baron James and THLord Olaf Lutherson scored the same number of points for their stained glass and first page from the Book of Acts on vellum respectively. As James received the Heraldic Arts prize, the scroll for the Fair was given to Olaf with the promise that another scroll for James would be made.

Their Majesties also recognized members of the populace in court. Phlorianos Kavallarios received the Order of the Combatant Ram. This was accepted by THLady Deborah of Haleshaven on his behalf, as Phlorianos was presumably no longer on site and from the Barony of Seleone. Sara de Val from the Barony of the Small Gray Bear received the Order of the Onyx Chalice. Asa Thorolfsdottir of the Shire of Ardanroe received an Award of Arms and a Silver Ram. She had placed several illuminations in the Fair for comment. Thomas Wilkinson of the Shire of Troll Fen received a Grant of Arms. And Kendra Dey was escorted out of the kitchen to be admitted into the Order of the Diamond Chalice.

Feast soon followed court. Paul the Small was the hall steward. Olaf Lutherson and Melisant of Exmoor were the super dishwashers during feast. Other kitchen helpers included Michael atte Harp, Brusi, Jordhildr, Kert, Bri (daughter of Stephan and Ariadne), Álfráðr, Fae, Marsilla, Evlaliia, Sophie, and Thunder (I think this is Myra of the Glen's son) .

There were four courses to feast. The first course was homemade country white bread, garlic herb butter and whipped butter, fried Parmesan cheese balls, chicken and parsley balls, beef and spinach meatballs, and sweet and hot mustard dipping sauce. The second course was whole roasted chicken with pears and bacon, Parmesan, spinach and herb quiche, and fresh cucumber salad tossed with vinaigrette. The third course was garlic stuffed pork with rosemary, mashed sweet potatoes with bacon, and spiced sautéed cabbage. The fourth course was fresh apple tarts.

The event was officially over Sunday morning with all requested to be off-site by ten o'clock.
